

A long, narrow wooden pier or walkway extends from the foreground into a thick, white mist or fog. The pier is made of weathered wooden planks and has a simple railing on both sides. The background is completely obscured by the mist, creating a sense of depth and mystery. The overall tone is soft and ethereal.

international translation day 2011

bridging cultures

“We have to understand each other to appreciate our cultural differences.”
www.fit-ift.org